"The Slipstick"

An Ode To Beer

Linen, my children, and you shall hear:

The story of the slipstick for the first time.

On the sixth of April, in the town of Chicago,

Six young men gathered around a table set for four.

The night was dark, the stars were shining bright,

And through the window, we could see the lights of the city.

The president of the slipstick society, Ill, in his chair,

Told his young audience of the slipstick's history.

"The slipstick," he said, "is a unique invention,

Created to serve those who appreciate a good drink.

It's a vessel made of wood, with a lid that opens and closes,

And it's filled with beer, the drink of kings and kings.

The slipstick is passed around the table,

And everyone takes a sip, as the night goes on.

For the slipstick is a symbol of friendship,

And it brings us all together, in a shared moment of joy.

"Ladies and gentlemen, let's raise our glasses,

To the slipstick, and to the memory of those who came before.

Let's drink to the slipstick, and to the joy it brings to us all.

The president thanked the young people for their attention,

And the night ended, with the slipstick still in hand.

For the slipstick is a symbol of our camaraderie,

And it will be with us, until the end of time.

A MIRACLE...You sit at home in easy chairs, behind closed doors, while a second-speed news...perhaps hundreds of miles away...comes the music that you listen to on the Chesterfield program.

We want to tell every smoker from coast to coast that Chesterfield cigarettes taste better...

We want everyone to know that they can depend on a Lockett & Myers product.

They're milder...They taste better.

ILLUSION

A "human" mannequin was used for public performances. The "mannequin" was operated by two students, one seated at the back and the other standing at the front. The "mannequin" was made of cloth and wood and was controlled by a hidden operator.

EXPLANATION

The "mannequin" was used as an illusion in the performance. The operator was hidden behind the "mannequin" and controlled its movements with a hidden wire.
