SCHERGER REVEALS POSSIBLE SOURCES OF FUTURE WARS

More Men Under Arms Needed Before World War

The federal government has been increasing its military strength in recent years. Despite the fact that the United States is not at war, the Department of Commerce is giving serious consideration to the possibility of an armed conflict. At present, the United States has more than 10 million men under arms, and this number is expected to rise to 20 million by 1940. The government is building up a network of military bases and is increasing its spending on defense.

MUSIC COMPLIMENTS

Armour was honored in having Dr. George J. Scherger as speaker in one of the best Armory Day celebrations in recent years. Doctor Scherger, who recently returned from a trip to Australia, is on leave of absence from his professorship at the University of Chicago. Although he has been occupied with his research, he was able to give a most instructive and interesting lecture.

At present, Doctor Scherger predicts that the world is in a far worse condition than it was in 1914. If that year, Europe had 500 million men under arms and was prepared for war, today it has more than three billion people, and many of them are hungry and poor. Doctor Scherger urges that we prepare spiritually for the war that is coming, and that we prepare for the future, not for the past.

The Daily Illini tells us that one of the chairmen of the World's Fair is a graduate of the University of Illinois. The fair is scheduled to open on April 30, 1933, and will run until October 15. The fair is expected to attract millions of visitors from all over the world.

The Daily Illini also publishes the schedule of events for the week of November 17. The schedule includes a variety of interesting events, such as a concert by the University Symphony Orchestra, a lecture by Dr. Scherger, and a football game between the University of Illinois and Northwestern University.
